HERALD'S WAR MOVIES SHOWN IN SOUTHEAST

Wonderful Pictures Can Be Seen for Today Only at Meaders Theater, Eighth Street.

The many Herald readers in the southeast section of the city will be glad to learn that The Herald war movies, which have created such an interest and been in such great demand this week, first at the Colonial Theater and then at the Pastime Theater, will be exhibited today at the most popular moving picture theater in Southeast Washington—Meaders Theater, 525 Eighth street southeast, opposite the main barracks of the navy yard. They will only be shown in this locality at this theater for the one day—today, January 9—and every one who sees them will be more than repaid for any extra effort it may take to arrange to see them.

These pictures are distinct in that they are actual views of the great struggle that is rending Europe, not before the camera by men who were heedless of all onlookers. They graphically show the horrors of war—the awful sacrifice in blood and manhood that is being made by the flower of Europe's manhood.

The spectators are thrilled as scene after scene unfolds, depicting the carnage—you feel the enthusiasm of the reckless men of France, England, and Germany as they hurl themselves forward to feed the greedy maw of the war god.

These pictures will give a clear realization of the sacrifices in men and money that war entails. It is almost impossible to realize the horror that hovers over a battlefield where the shrieks of dying men and the shrill screams of horses are drowned by the roar of artillery.

The films were photographed at great risk by intrepid photographers of the Hearst-Sellig Motion Picture Corporation. Many of the scenes were taken on battlefields that have already become famous to the public through the pictorial section of the Sunday Herald.

The matinee of the Colonial Theater will start at 2 p. m.

ANTIS FIGHT SUFFRAGE BY VISITS AND LETTERS

Have Delegation of Workers Here and Organized Plan to Influence Representatives from Districts.

Members of the House of Representatives are receiving visits from the anti-suffragists as well as from pro-suffrage workers in preparation for the approval day when the House will vote on the question of a Federal woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution. The anti-suffragists are being very active in their efforts to influence the representatives who have gained the impression, from the strenuous activity of the suffragists, that there is no organized movement against suffrage.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, arrived in this city last night to remain until after the vote is taken in the House. Mrs. A. J. George, of Massachusetts, has come to Washington for the same purpose. Mrs. Daniel A. Markham, president of the Connecticut division of the national association, has been sent here for work among the representatives, and will remain until the House makes its decision. Mrs. Florence Goff Schwarz, secretary of the Ohio division, has been assigned to similar work, and also will remain until a definite decision is reached.

The anti-suffragists are basing their campaign on the question of States' rights. They state simply to each Representative that the Federal Constitution makes no distinction as to who shall vote, while every State constitution carefully specifies those who shall be allowed to cast the ballot. Printed matter has been sent to every Representative by the local branch and by the national association. Letters and telegrams have been sent to Congressmen from all over the country. Antis have been working at the Capitol for the last few days to declare that the sentiment among the Representatives is nearly two to one against amending the Constitution.

Bathing Beach Plans Considered.

Plans for bathing beaches at the Tidal Basin were considered at an adjourned meeting yesterday of the Fine Arts Commission. Several bills for the erection of monuments and the purchase of paintings also were investigated by the commission. No decision will be announced until the officials in charge of the projects have been advised of the commission's view.

The Town Crier

The Public Utilities Commission has sent requests to more than 200 cities for information regarding telephone and electric light and power rates. The information will be used in connection with the physical valuation of these properties here.

The police yesterday began a search for the Misses Eva and Florence Beach, whose brother is reported to be dying in the Municipal Hospital, Pittsburgh. The young women are supposed to be living in Washington, according to Mrs. Carrie Beach, of 5017 Penn. avenue, Pittsburgh, who requested the police search.

The Congressional Union for Women Suffrage yesterday announced that it will give a reception at Rauscher's tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. The union will receive women prominent in the Congressional set and the receiving line will include a number of well-known women.

The Civil Service Commission will conduct an examination on April 1 for apprentice blacksmiths at the Washington Navy Yard. Physical ability will count 40 per cent and training, experience, and fitness 60 per cent. The salary will be $5 cents a day to start, and applicants must be between fifteen and eighteen years of age. Applications must be filed not later than March 17.

IN THE DISTRICT COURTS.

Porter L. Paylor, arrested in a hand-book raid at the navy yard, eighteen months ago, must pay a fine of $50 and serve fifty days in prison. He was sent to jail yesterday from the Police Court after he failed to win an appeal. He was sentenced several months ago, after conviction on five charges. In default of the fine he will have to serve five months additional.

The will of Mrs. Clara B. Davidson, widow of Gen. John W. Davidson, noted Indian fighter, was filed for probate yesterday. Mrs. Davidson left jewelry to her daughters, Letta, Webster, and Lizzie D. Hoppin. A jeweled snuff box, given to Gen. Davidson by the First Iowa Cavalry, was left to a grandson, Rushford Hoppin. The sum of one of whom is dead and the other missing for six years—were left $1 each. The will was dated in 1900.

Mrs. Bridget Babbington, in her will, filed yesterday, left considerable real estate to her five children, John A. Babbington, Patrick J. Babbington, Aloysius W. Babbington, Mary V. Babbington, and Katherine C. Babbington, and to her grandson, Joseph Babbington. Katherine Babbington and John Babbington are executors.

Sarah A. Brabham yesterday sued the District of Columbia for $25,000 damages. She alleges she fell and injured herself at John Marshall place and C street northwest because of a faulty pavement. W. J. Lambert and R. H. Yeatman are her attorneys.

Bids were opened by the Public Utilities Commission yesterday for printing the proposed report of the valuation commission. The bids ranged from $5,000 to $10,000.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

For the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia—Fair Saturday and Sunday without decided temperature change; light shifting winds. Pressure is generally high east of the Rocky Mountains, and there was no precipitation except some light snow on the Lake region. West of the mountains there were quite general rains and snows with occasional rains in California.
